

Following school board action

City voters to face 2.5-mill tax issue

By GEORGE MALEK

The Washington C.H. Board of Education will ask city voters to approve a 2.5-mill operating levy in the November general election.

Despite the possible revenue (approximately $125,000) from the proposed millage, the board will still face a $78,000 deficit.

According to the budget draft submitted by Superintendent Edwin M. Nestor, the school system would face a deficit of more than $160,000 without the revenue from the proposed millage.

Board members expressed deep concern over approaching Washington C.H. voters for an operating increase, especially in light of the recent reappraisal.

House Bill No. 920, which gives taxpayers in reappraised counties a tax credit on outside millage, has greatly reduced the amount of money each present mill might have produced.

The overall result is that the school system will obtain increased revenue only on the 4.7 inside mills, the millage which is imposed and not voted upon. The remaining millage (18 mills) will bring the same dollar amount next year that it brought this year. Taxpayers will pay the same about by receiving a tax credit for any tax in excess of last year's total.

House Bill No. 920 eliminates the greatest portion of the sizeable tax increases anticipated from the reappraisal, but board members fear that publicity about these anticipated increases will be difficult to overcome.

The school system will receive only $50,000 more property tax money if it has no increase in millage. This is not sufficient to offset rising costs and a small carryover at the end of 1976, Nestor said during Monday night's regular meeting.

Money from the state for support of schools has gradually declined during the administration of Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes. In 1975, the system received $1,043,428 from the state. A total of only $1,005,000 is projected for 1977, despite increasing costs. The actual expenditures in 1975 totaled $2,084,234. The 1977 estimate is $2,401,228.

As a result, the local taxpayers are being forced to bear an increasing percentage of the school tax burden.

Although the city school board had scheduled a tax increase for the general election ballot in 1974, unexpected revenue was received during the summer months and the tax request was dropped. No operating levy for schools has been requested since 1969, Nestor pointed out.

He added that the present bond retirement millage is being reduced by 2.5 mills. This will leave city taxpayers with exactly the same millage they had last year for the total school operation even if the new operating millage is passed, Nestor concluded.

The 1977 budget represents a 9.6 per cent increase over actual 1976 spending. Instructional costs (salaries of teachers and administrators) is scheduled to increase by 8.4 per cent. Nestor noted that Washington C.H. teachers start at a salary of $8,000. State law requires that the initial salary be at least $7,900.

Board members discussed the increase in instructional costs, and Nestor said that increases in Blue Cross coverage were significant. He added that state law now required the Proposal to use Willard art as subject for stamp tabled

A proposal submitted by a Washington C.H. man to use Archibald M. Willard's painting of the "Spirit of the U.S. Mail" as the subject for a postage stamp has been tabled for at least two years.

The U.S. Postal Service, in a letter to Congressman William H. Harsha, said it will not be possible to include any additional commemorative stamps for two years.

B.E. Kelley, curator of the Fayette County Museum, has been working for two years in an attempt to use the "Spirit of the Mail" painting as a commemorative stamp by the U.S. Postal Service.

Kelley, who was instrumental in authenticating the three large murals on the second floor of the Fayette County Courthouse as having been painted by Willard, had requested Harsha to submit the suggestion to the U.S. Postal Service.

"It would not be possible to include any additional commemorative stamps this year, beyond those which have already been announced," said William T. Johnstone, of the U.S. Postal Service's government relations department, in a letter to Harsha.

"In fact, the 1977 program has been completed and the Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee is beginning work on the 1978 stamps. We will, however, be pleased to bring Mr. Kelley's suggestion to their attention for consideration as future programs are developed," Johnstone continued.

"I should point out that each year the committee receives thousands of proposals and can recommend only a few stamps. Consequently, the vast majority of suggestions will not be adopted. In view of the numbers involved, it is not possible to predict just when, or if, a given proposal will ultimately result in a stamp. We can only promise that all suggestions will be carefully considered by the committee," Johnstone added.

The "Spirit of the U.S. Mail" is one of three large murals in the courthouse painted by Willard, the same artist who painted the famous "Spirit of '76."

Willard was hired by a Cleveland firm to paint the murals here in 1882 at a cost of $2,445. The murals have been valued at approximately $100,000.

The murals measure 10 by 14 feet and feature heroic feminine figures. Willard did not sign the murals. However, his partial name was found on an envelope being held by the "Spirit, of the U.S. Mail."

The murals were authenticated in 1956.

Demo platform pushes jobs

NEW YORK (AP) — A platform pledging "an orderly beginning" to federal programs of national health insurance and guaranteed minimum incomes is expected to receive quick approval tonight at the Democratic National Convention.

The platform also supports legislation to reduce adult unemployment to 3 per cent in four years.

"The goal of the new Democratic administration will be to turn unemployment checks into pay checks," the platform document says.

The delegates are likely to approve only one amendment to the draft approved by the party's platform committee in Washington in May. The amendment proposes easing restrictions of the Hatch Act, which bars political activity by federal workers.

The final platform is expected to propose that federal workers "will have the same political rights enjoyed by other Americans as a birthright, while still protecting the civil service from political abuse."

The party has allowed two hours for discussion and approval of the platform — an indication of how swiftly party leaders expect the document to be approved. The platform is considered a compromise document that balances the sometimes competing interests of different factions in the party.

Jimmy Carter has said his supporters made a "major input into the exact wording" of the platform, but other major elements of the party also seem generally pleased.

"We have been successful in almost every item in the platform," said Dan Dozier of the United Auto Workers, head of the platform committee of the Labor Coalition, which represents 418 labor delegates at the convention.

The platform also is pleasing to some for what it doesn't say.

It does not mention gay rights or capital punishment and makes only a brief reference to abortion, saying the party would disapprove a constitutional amendment to ban abortions.

Under convention rules, the delegates will be allowed only to vote approval or rejection of the entire platform and will not have the opportunity to vote on individual sections.

Only the Hatch Act proposal, which was forwarded as a minority report from the platform meetings in May, can be considered separately.

The platform supports mandatory busing to achieve racial integration in schools as "a judicial tool of last resort" but says other programs to achieve integration should be tried first.

For most Democrats, particularly leaders of organized labor, the platform's major provision is the pledge to reduce adult unemployment to 3 per cent within four years.

Some economists, including Democratic economists, argue that a blind pledge to drastically trim unemployment at all costs could bring on new inflationary forces.

At the insistence of the Carter forces, the platform qualifies the full employment pledge by saying a Democratic administration would make "every responsible effort" to carry it out. This would give a Democratic president some flexibility in pursuing jobs policies.

However, Carter has said that a combination of full employment, low inflation and a balanced budget all will be possible by 1980 as the economy returns to full strength.

The platform also commits the Democratic party to support a federally financed comprehensive national health insurance program, a plan for minimum income guarantees for poor and elderly Americans and tax reform that party officials say would save $5 billion in the first year alone.

The platform makes no estimate of the cost of the programs. But it cautions that obviously costly programs such as national health insurance cannot be afforded all at once.

The program detailed in the areas of human needs cannot be accomplished immediately, but an orderly beginning can be made and the effort expanded as additional resources become available, the platform says.

Regular City Council meet set Wednesday

Washington C.H. City Council will meet in regular session at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Fraternal Order of Police building at 470 N. Fayette Street.

Among the items to be discussed are several ordinances which have previously been introduced. These include a revision of the penalty clause on the city income tax which is due for a third reading, the third reading of an ordinance to vacate unused right of way for Wilson and Campbell streets.

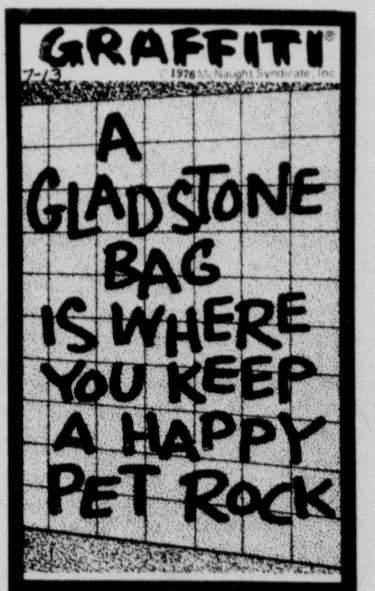

Also on their third readings are ordinances regulating use of the waste water system and licensing of sewer tappers.

Scheduled for introduction are an ordinance authorizing improvement of the city's traffic signals, a resolution to confirm an appointment to the board of zoning appeals, and a resolution to grant a driveway width variance to Tanner Oil Co.

The city manager is scheduled to discuss several topics including the city's 1977 tax budget, the Comprehensive Employment Training Act program, reports from department heads, and the re-evaluation of Washington C.H. property values.

Policy item discussions are to include the sewer billing problems discussed previously, the use of parking meter tokens and temporary street closings for the Old Fashioned Bargain Days celebration.

Barbara Jordan upstages Glenn

NEW YORK (AP) Jimmy Carter was expected to decide on a running mate today after the Democratic convention heard keynote Barbara Jordan's rousing call for a new "national community" to fulfill America's purpose.

Carter intimates indicated he would make his choice today although it probably won't be announced until Thursday, following Carter's own presidential nomination Wednesday.

Speculation centered on Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, Walter Mondale and John Glenn as the leading prospects for the No. 2 spot. Also under consideration are Sens. Frank Church, Henry Jackson and Adlai Stevenson.

Meanwhile, the first real excitement of the convention was added by Miss Jordan, the black congresswoman from Texas, who brought yawning delegates to their feet with a speech that took some pages from the Carter stylebook.

"We must restore our belief in ourselves," Miss Jordan said. "We must address and master the future together."

"It can be done if we restore the belief that we share a common national endeavor, if we restore our sense of national community," she told the cheering conventioners.

"We are a people in search of a national community," she said. Such a search is an attempt "to fulfill our national purpose, to create and sustain a society in which all of us are equal."

Miss Jordan, who had been mentioned in early speculation over a Carter running mate but had not made the list of finalists, received a standing ovation before and after she spoke and upstaged Sen. John Glenn, the other opening night keynote who is still on Carter's lists of prospects.

Glenn had first crack at the audience in a speech declaring that "this is the time to erase divisiveness and despair...to build a nation of justice, a nation of equality, a nation of opportunity in which we can be proud patriots."

But the delegates, who have lacked the stimulus of a nominating contest, milled about the convention floor and chatted among themselves throughout the Glenn speech.

It was a different matter, however, when Miss Jordan, the first black woman ever to keynote a major political convention, rose to speak. "There is something different and special about this opening night," she said. "I am a keynote speaker."

Since the first Democratic convention in 1832, she said, "it would have been most unusual for any national political party to have asked a Barbara Jordan to make a keynote address most unusual."

"The past notwithstanding, a Barbara Jordan is before you tonight," she said. "This is one additional bit of evidence that the American dream need not forever be deferred."

After Glenn had delivered his speech, Gov. Patrick J. Lucey of Wisconsin observed that it could be crucial in Glenn's chances for the vice presidential role.

"I think that making a keynote speech is a very high risk proposition," Lucey said.

There also were echoes of Carter's campaign in Glenn's speech as he spoke of compassion, of public confidence and of government grown so big and complex it leaves its citizens cowed and powerless.

The cure, Glenn said, "lies in renewed partnership between citizens and their government." But he said it would take new leaders with vision, "a Democratic president and the next Democratic administration..."

Carter finished a series of personal interviews with the potential running mates Monday and said he would sort all the information and impressions he had gathered and make his choice.

"I don't know how to describe the procedure," he said, "except as a thought process."

"It's undoubtedly the most important decision that I will make this year," Carter said, "perhaps one of the most important in my whole life."

Carter said he had discussed with each of the seven finalists "the fact that they might very well be my successor because of something happening to me during my term, or if I should finish out my term, that they might very well be the natural next candidate for president."

"So, I feel a very heavy responsibility on my shoulders in that I might very well be helping to choose the next president of our country if I should be successful and be elected," Carter said.

Rosalynn Carter disclosed Monday night that she sat in on all of the interviews and that she also looked over the wives of each prospective ticket mates.

One of those on the list took himself out of consideration Monday. Rep. Peter Rodino of New Jersey, who headed the House Judiciary Committee impeachment hearings on Richard Nixon, said he withdrew because of a recurring glaucoma from which he suffers. That left six, all members of the Senate.

Man held in slaying of 7 persons

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — The picture of a quiet, cleancut loner troubled over breaking up with a wife a bit younger than himself has emerged as authorities try to pinpoint the motive for a shooting spree that left seven persons dead and two wounded.

Edward Charles Allaway, 37, turned himself over to authorities shortly after he allegedly shot down nine persons Monday morning at the California State University at Fullerton library.

The shooting spree left bodies strewn throughout the basement of the library building. One policeman said later, "It was just too damn gruesome. It looked like Vietnam."

Authorities said Allaway, a custodian at the school, failed to report for his regular 6 a.m. shift but turned up about three hours later, allegedly carrying a rifle.

"I'm gonna get you SOB's for messing around with my wife," Allaway purportedly shouted. Seconds later, he allegedly opened fire. Within five minutes, the nine victims were cut down.

Those killed were identified as Paul Herzberg, 41, of Pomona, an employee in the library's instructional media center; Donald Karges, 41, of Santa Fe Springs, a custodian; Bruce Jacobson, 32, of Pomona, an media center employee; Deborah Paulsen, 25, of Anaheim, a custodian; Stephen Becker, 32, a library assistant; Seth Fessenden, 72, of Fullerton, a professor emeritus of speech communication; and Frank Teplansky, 51, of Anaheim, an media center graphic artist.

Listed in serious condition at St. Jude's Hospital, Fullerton, were Maynard Hoffman, 64, Fullerton, supervisor of custodial services; and Donald Keran, 55, Fullerton, a library employee.

"He was a quiet type," said Amol Navarro, a chief custodian who said he had known Allaway since he was hired 18 months ago. "Whenever he went on a break, he would go alone. And he never seemed to eat lunch with anyone. He always seemed to want to be alone."

Navarro said Allaway "never cussed, had a good attendance record at work and was clean-cut."

Navarro added, however, that Allaway had been troubled for the past few weeks over the separation from his wife, Bonnie, 22.

Bonnie Allaway is employed at the Hilton Inn in Fullerton. After the shooting, her husband drove there from the campus and spoke with her before telephoning police to turn himself in.

"I think they'd been married two or three years," said Mary Ferguson, Mrs. Allaway's supervisor at the motel, "and Bonnie had recently filed for divorce."

"He apparently didn't tell her anything about what went on at the school," Mrs. Ferguson said of his visit with his wife after the shooting.

"She didn't realize what had happened until the police arrived. Then she just backed up against a wall and started crying."

Rodino bows out as veep possibility

NEW YORK (AP) — Waiting for Jimmy Carter's vice presidential choice continues to be the only game in town, and some delegates to the Democratic National Convention appear to be leaning to Sens. Walter Mondale, Frank Church and Edmund Muskie.

A random AP survey of delegates taken Monday showed that in most cases Mondale and Muskie were the names most often mentioned by the delegates queried. The two are among six listed by Carter as possible running mates. Some backers cited them as liberals who could provide a balance to Carter; others viewed them as more experienced than Sen. John Glenn of Ohio, considered another of the top prospects.

Church, who also got a number of mentions in the AP survey, was second in an NBC poll of about a third of the delegates. The poll had Mondale first and Glenn and Muskie tied for third.

The race lost one candidate Monday when Rep. Peter Rodino of New Jersey, considered a longshot, pulled out. Carter also disclosed that Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut had also been on his list but had declined to be considered.

Carter, meanwhile, met with Church and Sen. Adlai Stevenson III of Illinois, last of the prospective nominees to be interviewed. He told reporters later that in the poll of possible vice presidential candidates he conducted, Stevenson "was one of those candidates who did not cut down on my lead" against a Republican candidate. And he said Church was "at or near the top" on his running mate list.

The nominee-to-be also said the decision on vice president is the most important he will make this year "and perhaps one of the most important of my whole life." He said he plans to look at notes from his interviews "and think about the different persons."

With the withdrawal of Rodino, Carter's list now includes Mondale, Muskie, Church, Glenn, Stevenson and Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington.

The AP sampling was a compendium of remarks picked up by AP reporters in interviews with delegates from a dozen states.

Last week, a more formal AP poll of the delegates showed that Church was the favorite of 235 delegates, followed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California, who is not on Carter's list of possible vice presidential candidates, with 201 and Stevenson with 130. Mondale was down the list with 85 and Muskie had 29.

Glenn, elected to the Senate only two years ago, was viewed in many cases as a curiosity, and several delegates mentioned his relative lack of experience in public office. But Dale Sights, Carter's Kentucky campaign manager, called Glenn "super intelligent" and said his nomination would be "a departure from traditional politics."

district to allow teachers three days of personal leave rather than one. This increases the cost of supplying substitute teachers, he said.

The budget is only a outline from which the board will formulate actual appropriations in January. If city voters pass the 2.5 mills requested by the board, it will still have to trim $78,000 from the projected expenditures.

If the tax increase is not approved by voters, the board will have to carve $160,000. Nestor said the latter task would be impossible without seriously injuring the quality of education in the district.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market forged ahead in very active trading today, continuing the sharp rally of the past two sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose nearly 3 points in the early going. Gainers opened up a 5-2 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The consolidated ticker tape reporting trades in NYSE issues ran as much as six minutes late in early activity.

Brokers said investors seemed to have been heartened by the Dow's ability to break through to its highest closing level in nearly 3 1/2 years on Monday.

They noted a generally bright economic news background, including a recent downward turn in short term interest rates.

Today's early prices included Westinghouse, up 1/4 at 17 1/4; Texaco, unchanged at 27 1/4; Citicorp, off 1/4 at 35 1/4; and Clorox, up 1/4 at 12 1/2.

Monday's advance carried the Dow Jones industrial average ahead 8.10 points to 1,011.21, its highest close since it finished at 1,018.66 on Jan. 23, 1973.

Mrs. Nixon progresses

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Pat Nixon's doctor says the former first lady will completely recover from her recent stroke but that her husband and daughters will have to guard her from the depression that often afflicts stroke victims.

Dr. John Lungren, the Nixon family physician, said Monday that Mrs. Nixon should be out of the hospital within a week to 10 days and should fully recover from the partial paralysis brought on by last week's stroke.

Although the 64-year-old wife of former President Richard M. Nixon remains in serious condition, Lungren said slurring of her speech has diminished and that her blood pressure is under control.

Opinion And Comment

A little common sense

President Ford's instincts were cooking on the front burner when he rose up in outrage and said no to the ruling against father-son and mother-daughter events in public schools. The dictum of the Office of Civil Rights that such gatherings violate the legal ban on sex discrimination in the schools is rightly perceived by many as a foolish over-extension of the law's intent. It is good that the President also sees it that way.

Mr. Ford did not simply rescind the OCR's decision; there is some question whether he could legally do that. He did order a review of the matter, and promised that if the ruling were judged correct within the meaning of the Civil Rights Act he would propose legislation to amend the act.

The basic intent of the law, to rule out discrimination among school pupils on the basis of sex, remains sound. But one must ask how this purpose is served by saying mothers and daughters or fathers and sons can't get together for a breakfast or dinner under school auspices.

The situation arose because of a routine clarification inquiry put to the Office of Civil Rights by School Superintendent William Randall in Scottsdale, Ariz. His comment is worth quoting: "I can understand the concern that might be expressed over differing treatment of some youngsters, such as those in one-parent situations. But that is part of life and part of reality. I don't know that we can go on forever making rules. Part of it has to be good common sense."

the current American system, where the commanding officer brings up the rear and orders his forces into action, makes a lot of sense, but in existential terms one still yearns for a commander like Arnold at Quebec or Bemis Heights or Netanyahu at Entebbe who simple says, "Follow me!"

Although the times and the technology are different, the Israelis have also shown themselves to be blood-brothers of the American Fenians, the Irish liberationists of the late 19th century, who brilliantly managed to rescue some of their comrades from a British penal settlement in Western Australia.

While we and the Israelis were celebrating, the Organization of African Unity (OAU) was meeting in Port Louis. It is important to realize that Africa, like Latin America, is a geographical reality but a political fiction. For example, the East Indians run Mauritius, where they were brought originally as contract laborers in the sugar fields. There are whites, blacks, coloreds, Christians, Muslims, animists, nomads, urbanites, radicals and conservatives scattered throughout the continent. Normally the meetings of the OAU are a bit disorganized, but this one was virtually indescribable. It was like a Marx Brothers movie.

On second thought, that is unfair to the Marx Brothers who were intentionally funny. A better analogy would be a unity meeting of left-wing sects where the humor is unintentional - for example, I attended a Socialist meeting in the late 1930s scheduled to last three days, but a Trotskyist faction planned a walk-out after one day and solemnly demanded a special registration fee, one-third of the going rate! Listening to various short-wave accounts of the OAU love-fest left me exhausted. Let me try to set out events in some sequence of order.

First, the Moroccans, Mauritians, and Algerians are having a private flight over the former Spanish Sahara, which happens to have some of the world's richest phosphate mines. The Spaniards genially turned it over to Morocco and Mauritania and shoved off; the Algerians, who have a short border with the area, set up a Liberation Front Polisario, and since then there have been wars and rumors of wars. The OAU refused to accredit a Polisario delegation, but it sneaked in under Algerian diplomatic cover. Morocco walked out, and Mauritania hung around, making noises, just to keep a watching brief.

Second, everybody rose and by acclamation denounced the white settler regimes. They hardly finished that therapeutic exercise in unity when Ugandan President Idi Amin, a bit startled by events at Entebbe, let fly with a ferocious blast at Israel and Kenya, alleged co-conspirator. The Kenyan vice president, Daniel Moi, then broke me up: In essence, he said that the Kenyans loved their Ugandan neighbors and it was simply slanderous to accuse Nairboi of complicity with the wicked Israelis. After this dead-pin exercise in spectacular lying, everybody voted against Israeli aggression, and said the United Nations should do something.

The best, however, was yet to come. President Gaafara I-Nimeiry of Sudan came on like gangbusters accusing Libya of sponsoring an abortive coup against him. He asked OAU support in controlling that madman, Col. Muammer el-Qaddafi. The last item on the BBC news that night was a bland statement that Sudanese and Libyan troops had arrived in Beirut as part of the Arab League peacekeeping force and, as they emerged from their plane, started shooting each other! Anybody for the tall ships? Or, let's go see the Queen.

Rhodes eyeing another term?

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Three-term Gov. James A. Rhodes has convinced his close associates he still is undecided whether he will run for an unprecedented fourth, four-year term in 1978.

"I think he will if his health holds out," says a former aide who promptly added that the 66-year-old governor seems "in excellent shape." Rhodes takes better care of himself now than he did in former years, but the old drive is still there, the former aide said.

Rhodes, who has devoted most of his energy this term to seeking new and expanded industry for Ohio, declines to talk to newsmen about his future. He's busy "selling Ohio," he frequently says.

Confronted with questions about his plans recently, he said he didn't know if he would run again. "I'm just trying to make it through today," he said, with the familiar smile that usually indicates he isn't telling everything.

The Republican governor, more seriously, concedes he is frustrated this term by having to deal with a Democratic legislature. Republicans ran both houses during his first two terms in the '60s except 1965-1966 when there was a 16-16 political deadlock in the Senate.

The Democratic majorities are expected to hold in this year's elections, and probably again in 1978 unless Rhodes is successful in a federal court effort to invalidate current legislative districts that favor Democrats.

Rhodes, and other Republicans who now dominate the state Apportionment Board 3-2, claim Democrats violated the Ohio Constitution in 1971 when they controlled the board and gerrymandered districts to their advantage in a districting plan that otherwise figures to stand until after the next federal census in 1980.

If the governor's Cleveland federal court case is successful, he would be in charge of a new reapportionment effort that probably could get the legislature back for his party. Some observers say the court case will have a major bearing on his ultimate re-election decision.

Rhodes is highly critical of the Democratic legislative majorities, and often refers to them as "big spenders" who enact costly programs Ohio can't afford. They in turn charge him with not providing leadership, especially since voters rejected overwhelming his highly publicized program in 1975 to make Ohio "depression proof."

Rhodes, next January 13, will have held the governor's office longer than anyone in history. At that time, he will enter his 11th year, and will have surpassed former Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche's five two-year terms. He has made some concessions to age, but not many.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Old flame's mail could burn twice

DEAR ABBY: I was meeting my boyfriend at his apartment, and I got there a little early. (I have a key.) I started to straighten up the place a little, when I came across a box shoved way back in his closet. I got curious and discovered a lot of letters and pictures from his old girlfriends.

I know I shouldn't have done it, but I started to read some of the letters. I became so jealous and angry to think that he had kept all this stuff that I took the whole box out to the trash and burned it up.

I realized it was wrong, but what's done is done. Now I have such a guilty conscience and can't sleep. I keep thinking, "What if he discovers that box is missing and figures out what happened?"

I'm afraid to tell him because we've already set our wedding date, and he might be so furious with me he'll call off the wedding. Please help me, Abby. I really love him and don't want to lose him.

SORRY SORRY
DEAR ABBY: Confess and get it over with. Prepare for some fireworks, but if he calls off the wedding, it's better than breaking up a marriage. It won't be easy, but tell him now and take your lumps.

DEAR ABBY: I am 9 years old and read your column every day. I have a dog named Missy. Our postman hates dogs.

One day our postman came by and Missy started to bark and run after the postman's heels, so he hit her with his mail bag. Missy gave out with a yelp, and for a while it looked like she was hurt bad, but she got back on her legs and made it back to the house.

I hear that some postmen bring treats to dogs so they will be friends, but not our postman. He is mean. What shall we do about him?

WORRIED ABOUT MISSY
DEAR ABBY: I don't know the law in your community, but in some places it's against the law to allow dogs to run loose. Postmen are not obligated to deliver mail to homes where dogs are at liberty to attack them. I suggest you keep Missy tied up.

DEAR ABBY: May I comment on the letter from the two 21-year-old girls interested in meeting mature, responsible policemen in Chicago?

Think about it, girls. Are you aware that the divorce rate is higher among policemen than among any other profession? The pay is low and their families must learn to get along without Daddy on many holidays.

I know what I'm talking about because I've been married to a police officer for five years.

If it were up to me, would I choose a different career for him and a different lifestyle for me?

Definitely.

PASSAIC POLICE WIFE

DEAR WIFE: It's a good thing all women don't share your sentiments.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S.O.S.: Confess to your clergyman or repent with prayer and ask for forgiveness, but the word from here is, tell him nothing.

Jury panel seated in rape case here

After a total of 19 prospective jurors were dismissed for various reasons, a Fayette County Common Pleas jury was seated in at 4:05 p.m. Monday to hear the case of a Wilmington man charged with rape.

George R. Medley, 32, of Wilmington, who has been charged by Fayette County sheriff's deputies with the March 3 rape of a 20-year-old Akron girl, was seated next to his two lawyers throughout the day-long proceedings.

Attorneys Walter S. Houston and Barry D. Isaacs, both of Cincinnati, are representing Medley, while assistant Fayette County prosecuting attorney John H. Roszmann is representing the state of Ohio in the case.

According to sheriff's deputies, the alleged rape took place on a farm lane just west of Washington C.H. Medley was arrested April 20 after having been

Judge fines defendant for disorderly conduct

A Washington C.H. man who had been found lying in a downtown flowerbox was found guilty of disorderly conduct to intoxication during Monday's session of Washington C.H. Municipal Court.

Found passed out in a flowerbox in front of 133 S. Main Street the night of July 9, was Harry L. Benson, 69, of 217 East St. According to Washington C.H. police officers, Benson had entered that condition as a result of too much alcoholic consumption.

Judge Robert L. Simpson found Benson guilty of disorderly conduct by intoxication, and fined him $50, with monetary credit for time served in jail.

Phil Thornhill, 27, of 604 Albin Ave., was found guilty of assaulting Paula Anschutz, 1070 Lewis St., on July 10 in front of Sounds Unlimited, S. Fayette Street. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail with all the time suspended, provided he make payment to the prosecuting witness of any medical expenses incurred as a result of the assault.

Sharon Osborne, 23, of 323 Fayette St., was found not guilty of criminally secretly indicted by an April 16 session of the Fayette County grand jury.

Many of the prospective jurors were dismissed because of their past professional correspondence with the law firm of Fayette County prosecutor James A. Kiger, or assistant prosecutor Roszmann.

Additionally, the jury dismissals resulted from the utilization of those requests for dismissal allowed to each side in the litigation. Two people were dismissed because they said they would not be able to follow the judge's instructions regarding certain points of law that might arise.

Some of the questions asked of each prospective juror solicited his or her opinion of what constituted a rape, and what could be considered consent to sexual intercourse by the alleged victim.

trespassing, but she received a jail sentence of 30 days with all the time suspended for assaulting one Loraine Newman on July 10.

For a disorderly conduct by intoxication conviction, Michael F. Herd, 25, of 1025 Dayton Ave., was fined $25 and credited with time served in jail. Herd had reportedly been found lying across a curb on S. North Street by Washington C.H. police officers, and this led to his conviction.

For selling a raccoon before obtaining a commercial propagation license from the Ohio Division of Wildlife, John Kingery, 54, of Jeffersonville, was fined $50 with $15 suspended.

A charge of unlawful storage of prohibited materials against Louis N. Baer, 63, of 421 E. Market St., was dismissed at the request of the prosecuting witness. An amount of trash stored on a rental property belonging to Baer was removed.

In 1820, Ohio ranked third among the states in value of products and fifth in the amount of capital invested.

Traffic Court

Of a total seven traffic cases heard Monday in Washington C.H. Municipal Court, three dealt with driving while under the influence of alcohol charges.

Judge Robert L. Simpson found Harry M. Bryan S., 69, of 1207 S. Hinde St., guilty of drunk driving and reckless operation. For the first conviction, Bryan was fined $250, sentenced to 30 days in jail with 27 suspended, and had his driver's license suspended for 30 days. For reckless operation, he was fined $50 with $25 suspended.

Cathy A. Woodford, 22, of 3015 Old Springfield Road, was fined $250, sentenced to 30 days in jail with 27 suspended and had her driver's license suspended for 30 days for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

For a drunk driving conviction, Ralph W. Coats, 65, of Octa, was fined $250, sentenced to three days in jail, and had his driver's license suspended for 30 days.

David D. Scott, 33, of Jeffersonville, was fined $50 with $25 suspended for driving left of center. For driving without a driver's license, he was fined $50.

Emanuel Martin, 1109 Willard St., was fined $50 for speeding. For starting without safety, Kristine C. Amsbary, 32, of 403 N. North St., received a fine of $25.

Shirley A. Prater, 38, of Jeffersonville, was fined $25 for failing to yield to an oncoming motor vehicle.

However, Ries added that the number of current entrants is about 100 short needed for the intended competition. Ries, who will be attending the tournament for his third time, said that if the field totals 256 players, the total purse will amount to a minimum of $3,200.

Jack Ford has doubts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jack Ford, who has actively campaigned for his father, says campaigning is an "emotional drain" and he is looking forward to the end of the campaign.

The 24-year-old son of President Ford has said several times before that he believes the Ford family lifestyle was better before Ford became president.

In an interview with Rolling Stone magazine, young Ford was asked whether he really wants his father to be re-elected.

"Deep in my heart? I don't even have to go that deep. No.

"It's an incredible paradox, you know," Ford continued. "I get up in the morning and say to myself, 'God, does it really make sense to do this, even if I'm not convinced that I want him to be President?'"

A prelude of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Lawrence Black, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding day a formal white gown of lace and polycrpe. The yoke and sleeves were of sheer illusion heavily appliqued with imported lace. The angel sleeves ended in scallops at the finger tip. Her cathedral train, attached to the dress at the back yoke, was edged in matching lace. The full length veil, caught to a Juliet cap of lace and seed pearl and trimmed with the same lace and lace appliques, cascaded softly beyond the train of the gown. Her jewelry was a gold "R" necklace especially created for her, and a gift of the groom.

The bridal bouquet was of yellow sweetheart roses, stephanotis, and baby's breath, with green velvet loops streaming down to end in miniature bouquets.

Miss Melody Roush, of Washington C.H. was maid-of-honor. Her gown was formal length with poncho of lemon and peach swirl of chiffon. Her headpiece was a circlet of baby's breath and peach bows.

Miss K. Ann Hensley, sister of the groom, served as bridesmaid. She too, wore a formal length dress in lemon, topped with a chiffon poncho identical to that of the honor attendant. Her headpiece was a circlet of baby's breath and lemon bows. Each carried flower balls of peach and lemon miniature carnations and baby's breath hanging from velvet loops.

The bride's mother wore a formal length caftan of pink quiana knit with matching accessories. Her pearls she wore were a gift from her daughter, and her corsage was of white carnations.

Serving as best man was Lynn Van Zant of New Vienna. Michael Clay, brother of the bride, served as groomsmen. The ushers were Steve Olds and Sonny Morgan, both of Wilmington.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall. The serving table was covered with a floor length white cloth with a net overlay. Peach ribbon rosettes and streamers were at each corner. The traditional three tiered wedding cake centered the table. It was all white topped with two satin wedding bells. The only color was the center of the daisy flower trim. Hostesses were Mrs. Donald Murdock, Mrs. Michael Clay and Mrs. Dan Kitchen, all of Washington C.H.; Mrs. Jack Clauson and Mrs. Ernest Wray, both of South Bend, Ind. Miss Kim Hensley, sister of the groom, presided at the guest book. Their corsages were of white carnations with peach and lemon bows.

When the couple departed for a short wedding trip, the bride was wearing a three piece beige knit pantsuit.

The new Mrs. Hensley is a graduate of Miami Trace High School. Mr. Hensley is a graduate of Washington High School and has served with the armed forces in Viet Nam. He is presently employed at Hartzel Propeller in Wilmington. The young couple are at home to their friends at 210 W. Market St., Washington C.H.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Larry Roberts and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Clauson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wray, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clauson, all of South Bend, Ind.; Mrs. Henrietta Meyers, aunt of the groom, from New York City; Mrs. William Fipps and daughters of Hamilton; Mrs. Irene Salyers of Wilmington, Mr. and Mrs. Ova Anderson, Mrs. Robert Rickling and daughter of Mt. Orab; and Miss Jane Anderson of Middletown.

Out-of-town guests come for wedding

Recent houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. James Henry of 507 Comfort Lane, were Mrs. Harold Clear and son, Ronnie of Paulding; Mrs. Iva Deckard and daughter, the Rev. and Mrs. J. Nunley and family of Indianapolis, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Elmon French and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Estep and family, all of Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Jones and family of Cincinnati; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Henry and family of Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bailey of Columbus; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fisher of London. They came especially for the wedding of Miss Nancy Henry to Gregory McKinney, which was an event of June 28.

The first Catholic Church in Ohio was dedicated in the woods south of the present site of Somerset in Perry County Dec. 6, 1818. This was a rude hut, later replaced by a large building dedicated Jan. 14, 1829. This was replaced by a still larger church which burned in 1864, and the present Gothic St. Joseph Church was then erected.

Jury views kidnap death site

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The jury in the trial of Herman Lee Moore, 46, of Dayton, will travel by bus to Dayton today to examine the alleged scene of the crime and to visit the home of one of the codefendants, a court official said Monday.

Jury selection was completed here Monday after extensive news coverage forced a change of location from Montgomery County to Summit County.

Moore is to be tried on charges of aggravated murder, kidnaping, and extortion in the death of Dayton furniture store owner Lester C. Eloff, 67, in Montgomery County last September.

Two Dayton men, Albert Lee Scott, Jr., 41, and Willis Leroy, 44, will be tried for the same charges at a later date.

Summit County Common Pleas Judge Stanley S. Phillips granted a motion by Moore's attorneys on June 17 to change the location of the trial, agreeing the thorough media coverage the case had received made it unlikely that an unbiased jury could be seated in Montgomery County.

After considerable debate

Board reluctantly OKs bread bid

After considerable debate, the Washington C.H. Board of Education reluctantly accepted a bid on bread and baked goods for the upcoming school year from Wonder Bread, forsaking Pennington Bread Co. for the first time in years.

Despite the excellent service rendered by Pennington over the years, the board felt obligated to contract with Wonder Bread of Columbus which underbid the local firm by approximately seven cents per loaf.

Nestor said he had nothing but praise and respect for the Pennington operation which in the past had submitted the lowest figures. The quality of service would have compensated for a few cents difference in price, but the board felt it could not ignore a full seven cents. That amount could mean as much as $1,500 to $2,000 per year.

A third bid on baked goods from the American Bakeries Co., Cincinnati, was higher than Pennington's.

Milk bids from Model Dairy of Chillicothe and Meadow Gold Dairy of Dayton were virtually identical. The board accepted Model's bid because of a slightly lower price on white milk which is used more frequently.

White milk will cost the school system 9.6 cents per carton. Chocolate milk will cost 10.4 cents. Both are two per cent butterfat.

The former Sunnyside Elementary School will be rented to the Fayette Progressive School at the same $500 per month fee charged last year.

Although there was some discussion about reviewing the rent and suggesting a higher figure, board members finally agreed to continue the present contract.

The prime reason for considering an increase appeared to be the city schools' ailing financial situation. It was also noted that the $500 figure was set when the Progressive School was having financial difficulty. Recent passage of a tax levy has increased the Progressive School's revenue.

IN OTHER action, the board:

—Approved professional meeting expenses for staff members.

—Employed Mrs. Norma Borden as secretary to the Middle School principal.

—Appropriated $100 to finance completion of the installation of lights on the Circle Avenue tennis courts.

—Approved of Naval cadet Bradley D. Toile's participation in a special summer cruise.

—Employed Paul Beaver to instruct tennis under Community Education.

—Accepted the resignations of Patricia Moss, home economics; Holly Howard, English; Helen Sauer, elementary education; Emily King, music; and Yvonne Foster, elementary education.

—Employed Kathy Wallace, music; Richard Bryan, English and history; Laurann Perrill, elementary education; Steve Ross, contract for varsity football assistant; and Steve Pommert, summer maintenance.

—Purchased textbooks for sixth grade social studies and sophomore English.

—Renewed Community Education director Hank Shaffer's contract for six additional months at the same salary.

—Approved purchase of drapes for the COE department.

—Agreed to participate in a program which offers a supervisor for the education of mentally retarded children without cost to the system.

—Approved reimbursement for continuing education courses taken by faculty members.

—Raised the tuition rate for non-resident students from $42.70 per month to $51.83 per month.

—Received a letter from Congressman William H. Harsha agreeing with their opposition to federal interpretation of restrictions on sexual discrimination under Title IX.

U.S. mercenary did fight, man says

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Daniel Gearhart, the American mercenary executed in Angola, penetrated enemy territory, engaged in several firefights and was commended by his British commander, says the man who recruited him.

Gearhart, 34, of Kensington, MQD., and three British mercenaries were executed by a firing squad last Saturday. During his trial, Gearhart testified he was in Angola only a few days when captured and that he never fired his weapon.

"It wasn't three or four days. Gearhart went over with me and we were there for several weeks before he was taken prisoner," said David Bufkin, 39, who advertised nationally for mercenaries to fight in Angola before, he said, he decided to go over himself.

Bufkin said in an interview Monday he didn't discuss Gearhart's participation before "because his defense was he hadn't fired a shot," and Bufkin said he didn't want to compromise that position.

Bufkin, who works as a cropduster, said he accompanied Gearhart to Angola, along with a number of other mercenaries he recruited, including Gary Acker, 21, of Sacramento, Calif., and Gus Grillo, 27, of Jersey City, N.J. Grillo and Acker were captured, tried as mercenaries and are serving jail terms in Angola. Acker identified Bufkin during his trial as the man who recruited him to fight in Angola.

Bufkin said his role as a mercenary was that of a pilot, flying a light observer plane reporting the positions and movement of Cuban troops fighting in the African country.

Bufkin said, "We all went over together.... When we arrived in Sao Salvador, Danny's first assignment was a deep penetration patrol into enemyheld territory to gather intelligence. The patrol completed its penetration, and Danny returned with the information he was sent to get."

Later, Bufkin said, Gearhart was assigned to a British reconnaissance patrol with a mission to approach enemy positions in the Tomboco area, make contact and return with information on the enemy's strength and positions.

"Danny's patrol did make contact, engaged in a firefight, and returned to report the positions," Bufkin said.

In between those patrols, according to Bufkin, Gearhart was assigned to set up portions of the defense perimeter around Sao Salvador and was training black troops to help defend the town against assaults.

Sao Salvador was the headquarters of the National Front, the FNLA, a pro-Western guerrilla organization supported by the mercenaries.

"Danny did a very good job and was commended by Cmdr. Peter MacAleese," Bufkin said. "It was a verbal commendation and was accompanied by a cash bonus. Mercenaries don't get medals. They get cash and a pat on the back."

Style same for Bengals

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The coach has changed, but the system remains the same, says new Cincinnati Bengals Coach Bill "Tiger" Johnson.

After serving as offensive line coach for eight years under Paul Brown, Johnson has assumed command of the club, which opened training camp here Sunday at Wilmington College.

The new coach confirmed he will follow Brown's practice of having just one scrimmage, near the end of the six-week camp.

"The drills will be the same but they're brisk. They're not of the namby-pamby type," he said.

Johnson said he sees little change from being Brown's chief assistant, except for the detail work for which he is now responsible. Brown is now de-

Carner wins U.S. Open

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "The first might have been luck. But when you win a second, you feel like a pro."

Such was JoAnne Carner's reaction after beating tiny but tough Sandra Palmer by two strokes Monday in their 18-hole playoff for the U.S. Women's Open Golf Championship.

It was Mrs. Carner's second Open title. She won in 1971, at Kakkwa Club in Erie, Pa. She became the fourth player in the history of the Open to win two or more times.

Mrs. Carner's victory wasn't exactly artistic. She blew a four-stroke lead with five holes to play, and came back to win with the help of an eight-foot birdie putt and a bogey by Miss Palmer on the 17th hole.

Her five-over-par 76 wasn't exactly the kind of score you expect from one of the game's great hitters in a clutch match. Fortunately for Mrs. Carner, however, Miss Palmer shot 78.

But artistic or not, it was good enough to win $9,000 for the 37-year-old Mrs. Carner, and more important the prestige of being Open champion. The Open is the women's most prestigious bauble.

The 35-year-old Miss Palmer, who tied Mrs. Carner in the regulation 72-hole tournament when she rolled in a five-foot putt on the 18th green in Sunday's final round, took her defeat in stride.

"I had my chance and I turned around and gave it back to her," said the 5-foot-1 Miss Palmer, smallest player on the pro tour. "JoAnne is tough. That's why we call her 'Big Mama.'"

Johnson announced that veteran Gary Burley has been assigned to the left side of the defensive line, while Coy Bacon, acquired from San Diego, will move into the left side.

The coach also assigned rookie offensive guards Glenn Bujnoch, the No. 3 draft choice out of Texas A&M, and No. 4 pick Greg Fairchild of Tulsa, to the starting offensive team.

"The guards this year will offer more speed than last year," said Johnson, who added that veterans John Shinner and Dave Lapham also have good speed.

The new coach, who was Brown's chief aide in building the nine-year old franchise, declined to make predictions for the year.

"Through the years our graph has gone up," he said. "Maybe our record doesn't always show it but the caliber of our players has been upgraded from year to year."

Washington C.H. tops Greenfield in city tennis

The Washington C.H. tennis team breezed to an easy 6-1 win over Greenfield in Inter-City Tennis action Sunday.

The Court House men won all three singles matches. Paul Beaver topped Kevin McNeil, 6-1, 5-7, 6-2; Lew Elliott beat Randy Carle, 7-6, 5-7, 6-1; and Reggie Groves defeated Don Davis, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Rita Krammes won the women's singles match in straight sets.

In doubles action, Steve Yambor and Phil Snow took an easy 6-2, 6-1 win in the men's pairs; Rose Evans and Paul Beaver won the mixed doubles match and Greenfield won the women's doubles.

The Inter-City Tennis League will finish up the season next Sunday. The first-place Washington C.H. team will play at Hillsboro.

1976 Olympic peace hopes rest on Krumm's shoulders

MONTREAL (AP) — Peace hopes in the great Olympics dispute rested today on the shoulders of Philip O. Krumm, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee and a man with a reputation for patching up other people's quarrels.

Krumm and his committee took over the role of mediators and became the central figures in the drama of the Taiwanese athletes who are shut out of Canada for political reasons.

The Americans were talking with the Canadian External Affairs Ministry in Ottawa and the Taiwanese officials in the Olympic Village in Montreal.

Olympic sources gave them a slim chance of success. But it was a last gasp effort to get the Taiwanese into the Games, opening Saturday, and to restore the battered image of the Olympic charter.

"We are working like the dickens to get both sides in this dispute to concede a little," Krumm said.

"The future of the Games depend on our success. Instead of friendly athletic competition between athletes, the Olympics have become a political contest between countries."

The International Olympic Committee (IOC) recognizes the national Olympic committee of Taiwan under the name of the Republic of China — a name which offends the Communist Chinese in Peking.

Canada, clearly concerned about its big wheat export trade with Peking, refused to allow the Taiwanese to enter the country unless they agreed to drop the "Republic of China" label and abandon their national flag.

Pollock named president

Feeder calf sale committee formed

Beef cow-calf producers from southwestern Ohio counties met Monday night at the Fayette County Extension Office to organize a committee to conduct an Ohio-approved graded feeder calf sale. The organizational meeting included election of officers, selection of sale dates, formulation of sale policies and selection of an auction market to handle the sale.

Donald Pollock, Ohio 38, near Bloomingburg, was elected president of the committee and Jim Campbell, of Cedarville, was elected vice president. A secretary-treasurer will be appointed at a later date.

The first sale of the yet-to-be-named feeder calf committee is scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 4 at the Producer's Livestock Association in Washington C.H. Counties represented at the meeting included Fayette, Clinton, Greene, Champaign, and Pickaway. Beef cow-calf producers from Clark and Madison counties have been invited to join with the above counties in supporting such a sale.

The organization of the feeder calf sale came about because of interest expressed by cow-calf producers in several counties, according to John P. Gruber, Fayette County agricultural extension agent.

Gruber said that after initial interest was expressed by some producers a survey was conducted in the seven counties to determine interest in the formation of a graded sale. He pointed out that a graded feeder calf sale provides an additional marketing alternative to cow-calf producers not previously available in this area.

The newly formed feeder calf committee will be one of 10 such groups in Ohio sponsoring 26 Ohio-approved feeder cattle sales. The Nov. 4 sale will include both calves and yearlings. It is hoped that in the future years numbers of consignments will allow expansion to more than one date.

Bureau to fund outdoor projects

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation will continue to fund outdoor recreation projects within the state.

Bureau officials commended Ohio on Monday for an outstanding recreation program.

Last year Ohio received $6.7 million through the bureau for state and local outdoor recreation projects.

Ohio's share of the federal outdoor recreation grants is expected to increase to $14 million a year by 1980, bureau officials said.

The Fayette County Board of Education will hold a budget hearing Thursday at 8 p.m. in the superintendent's office, 414 E. Court St.

Although the main purpose of the meeting will be to adopt a district budget for the 1977 school year, routine and other matters are on the agenda. The board will examine three teacher resignations and set a date for the acceptance of bids for insurance, fuel and foods for the coming school year.

Also on the agenda are the review and possible adoption of a bus drivers manual and a new discipline code pertaining to suspensions, expulsions and removal of students.

The board is also scheduled to review the recommendations of a high school committee pertaining to the present policy of averaging grades, discuss a proposed plan for tornado drills, and to consider entering into an agreement with Clinton County for special education supervisory services.

The first inhabitants of the Mississippi were the Natchez, Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians.
